Assistant, Associate or Full Professor of Practice
University of Nebraska – Lincoln
School of Accountancy

The School of Accountancy in the College of Business Administration at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln is seeking applicants for two non-tenure track Assistant, Associate or Full Professor of Practice positions starting fall 2016. Professors of Practice are teaching specialists that are hired on multi-year contracts, renewable subject to performance. This will be an academic year (nine month) appointment and the salary is competitive.

As a member of the faculty, Professors of Practice participate (as appropriate in the governance of the School and College of Business Administration) in academic policy making, and in a variety of non-class activities such as advising students and student organizations. A successful candidate will be expected to be significantly involved in the School and College’s teaching mission and teach a variety of courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels, depending on credentials. Teaching responsibilities typically will be 12 hours (four courses) per semester and may include large sections of undergraduate courses.

With the entrance into the Big Ten, the College and School are experiencing significant growth, and increased resources are allowing for a substantial number of new hires across the College. There are currently over 500 undergraduate students majoring in Accounting, approximately 50 Master’s students, and 7 doctoral students. The School has 16 total faculty that service these students. In addition, we are looking forward to moving into a new state-of-the art building in 2017.

Applicants must have either 1) an undergraduate accounting degree, significant professional accounting experience, and a CPA license, or 2) a Master’s degree in accounting and an accounting-related professional certification (e.g., CPA, CMA, CFE, etc.), or 3) a doctorate in accounting or have completed all of the requirements for the Ph.D. at the time of appointment.

Preference will be given to candidates with graduate degrees, professional licensure, demonstrated excellence in teaching, and experience teaching large classes.

To be considered for this position, please go to http://employment.unl.edu, requisition F_150289. Click on “Apply for this Job” and complete the form. Applicants will be required to attach three (3) documents in MS Word or PDF format: 1) a letter of application outlining teaching philosophy and interests, 2) a detailed curriculum vita or resume that includes information on education, experience, qualifications, and, if applicable, publications and teaching experience (including title and levels of courses taught, and summary of teaching evaluations); and 3) names and contact information for three references. For most favorable consideration, applications should be received by February 1, 2016, although applications will be considered until the position is filled.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln is committed to a pluralistic campus community through affirmative action, equal opportunity, work-life balance, and dual careers. See http://www.unl.edu/equity/notice-nondiscrimination.