POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT
University of Nebraska – Lincoln
Assistant or Associate Professor of Accountancy

The School of Accountancy invites applications for a tenured or tenure track appointment at the Assistant or Associate Professor rank beginning August 2016. The University of Nebraska - Lincoln is committed to establishing a research presence and productivity consistent with our Big Ten Conference affiliates and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation, the academic affiliation of the conference. All areas of teaching and research interest will be considered. We are particularly interested in individuals who are strong organizational citizens and interested in being active members of a rich academic community. Salary, benefits, and research support are very competitive and consistent with other Big Ten Universities.

Candidates are required to hold a Ph.D. degree in accounting or a related area from an AACSB accredited College of Business and have published research in “A” level accounting and/or finance journals. Candidates for the Associate position should have an established research record consistent with the appointment.

About the College of Business Administration
Under the leadership of Dean Donde Plowman, the research, teaching, and engagement missions of the College have been significantly refocused to align with the affiliation of the Big Ten. As the college continues to build on and further develop its research strength, twenty five new faculty have been hired in the past three years and plans are underway for the construction of a new 240,000 square foot state-of-the art building. Increased support for research and close proximity to thriving business communities of Omaha and Lincoln help advance the college’s research goals. The college prides itself in being an open and collaborative community.

Additional Information
Lincoln, population 265,000, known for its college-town atmosphere was recently named one of the top five emerging entrepreneurial hotspots in America by Entrepreneurship Magazine and received Google’s 2013 E-City Award for its strong online business community. Lincoln offers the attractions and entertainment opportunities of a metropolitan area and ranked #9 in Forbes 2012 listing of American’s Most Livable Cities and #2 among U.S. cities in the Gallup-Healthways 2011 Well-Being Index, as well as #4 in WalletHub’s 2015 Best Cities for Families ranking. Lincoln boasts low unemployment, low cost of living, and low crime. A strong vision for growth, vibrant downtown, extensive bike trails, numerous golf courses and parks, a wide variety of restaurants, shops and museums, and top college sports teams, help make Lincoln a desirable community. Visit http://admissions.unl.edu/discover/lincoln-life.aspx or http://www.lcoc.com/ for more information.

To be considered for this position, applicants must go to http://employment.unl.edu, requisition F_150157. Click on “Apply to this Job” and fill out the form. Applicants must also upload: 1) a letter of interest, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) a list of three references with contact information, and 4) one document containing: i) a sample of publications/working papers, and ii) evidence of teaching experience and ability.

Applicant review will begin on November 30, 2015 and continue until the position is filled. For specific questions about the position, please email Tom Omer at tomer2@unl.edu.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln is committed to a pluralistic campus community through affirmative action, equal opportunity, work-life balance, and dual careers.